HOSPICE OF WAKE'S CEO ELECTED TO AHHC BOARD

RALEIGH, NC – John Thoma, CEO, has been elected to serve a three-year term on the Board of Directors for the Association for Home and Hospice Care of North Carolina (AHHC) to represent the North-Central Region. The mission of AHHC is to provide resources, education, advocacy, and leadership for its members, policy makers, elected officials, and the public and to elevate home care and hospice as a valued healthcare choice. Thoma's role on the Board is to represent the interests of home care and hospice providers in our region.

Hospice of Wake County is the largest hospice in the area, serving patients and families in Wake and the six surrounding counties. Services include hospice and palliative care, bereavement, and home health.
